Greetings brothers and sisters,

Starting to see people posting official responses from Brokers and ISA regarding the Splitvidend from GME to keep everyone informed and I thought I'd do my bit.

I have most of my Shares DRS'd with Computershare but in the early days, it wasn't possible to DRS from the UK... Well, it was a massive ballache... So before they made it way simpler I actually ended up putting some shares away in an ISA account with HL.

Anyway, long story short, the representative I spoke to said he's had several calls today regarding this, and HL's official stance is that the Stock Dividend will be provided to all shareholders directly into your ISA account.

The one caveat to this is that they haven't been given any official paperwork to suggest a date or the split amount, which he assured me is normal since the announcement only happened last night. He did however say that whenever they get the official paperwork they will notify all shareholders via email of the date and dividend amount beforehand. So keep an eye out for that.

TL:DR - If you have anything in HL you should be cool, stock dividend on route.
