Welcome to the first of many Mental Health Mondays! Everyone please pretend today is still Monday as I forgot to post yesterday. ■

I want to start off by thanking my *concerned redditor* for caring enough about my well-being to go out of their way and get help sent right to my Reddit inbox. Receiving the message above was a warm reminder that help is out there if I were to need it. It also provided the perfect segue into the first Mental Health Monday post! Fortunately, even though I'm going through some challenges currently, I'm the happiest I've been in years and have no intention of self-harm. With that out of the way let's get started!

Whether you recognize it or not, every trade that you make takes all of you including an emotional and mental investment. Sometimes life can become overwhelming or feel out of control. Fortunately there are lots of resources to help in those moments of crisis.

Below you can find a myriad of different resources and helplines for crisis situations and addiction. If you or someone you know is experiencing a crisis or addiction and needs help, reach out today.

#Resources & Helplines

##Crisis & Suicide

**Reddit Resources** - /r/SuicideWatch is a great resource for anyone struggling with suicidal thoughts. The Wiki provides information on helplines as well as a FAQ detailing what to expect when calling a hotline. The information below is from their Hotline Wiki which includes additional country contacts.

-----
**Worldwide Directories****

We know of three international lists that are maintained by reputable agencies; try these if you don't find what you're looking for below:

1. The International Association for Suicide Prevention maintains a **Global Crisis Centre Directory**).
2. The Befrienders maintain a hotline database; use the "Find a Helpline by Country" control at the top of their page.
3. Open Counseling's International Hotlines List

Do be aware that most global hotline lists are maintained privately by members of the public. Although these people usually mean well, the information on their sites is usually outdated and/or incorrect.
