I don't know if you guys ever visit gmedd.com but apparently there is a movie coming out about the gme story which is not even close to over yet. Not a word about DFV, probably because of legal reasons. They do mention "a group of people" who also liked the stock. They also go on to say that "Rod Alzmann became the face of GameStop's army of retail investors".

This could be be good for exposure or complete FUD. I don't know
