will i be shit out of luck when the MOASS happens if i keep gme shares in eToro? or will i be able to close my positions whenever I want? (when it reaches a figure im happy with) because ive read etoro can close your open positions during times of uncertain market conditions or something. Ive been holding for 8+ months so I want to know it's all been worth it or will i get fucked when it really matters

Any suggestions? or advice?
