A cool wrinkled ape had been giving him and other's tips.

I would have just commented but there are character limits and I can't post pictures for references....So I just wanted to put this here and link to wakka and his post.

After reading this and the SEC document, this seems to be a safety net for them. That being said it is juicy for the meaning of the market. Based on Fincyclopedia, "The coupon barrier event occurs, when on an observation date, the closing level of an index is less than its coupon barrier level." Notice that it says the level of the index is less than its coupon barrier level.

Based on this below we can see what these Knock in and Barrier levels are.

What I find interesting in all this shit are the dates listed below

They are expected to have a trade date for these safety nets based on percentages on September 29th, which is based on the performances of two indexes.

Remember that based on Fincyclopedia "The coupon barrier event occurs, when on an observation date, the closing level of an index is less than its coupon barrier level."

I'm exhausted from running around with minions so I likely have overlooked something. But shat. This is good juice. There is ALOT of great information that still needs to be broken down...but I just wanted to mention real damn fast that the dates are really sweet here. (Plus...notice how they mention delisting of PROC stocks....wut...and weird shit regarding the tax premise of all this...wut?)

If they're prepping for something soon...and creating safety nets....Hold your wiggly jiggly tits.
