Smooth brain apes here. I'm just wondering if Shitadel can create and exercise put options or short a lot of stocks knowing in advance that the market will c r a s h and use their gains to add more leverage on their GME shorts?

They don't need to close their position and just use all the gains to add more buffer on their leverage.

GME is dipping with the market , it will be easier for them to maintain their collateral or add more using their gains.
