

Title: Is there an estimate on how much interest the Feds have paid out through reverse repo?

Author: mobile-nightmare

Created 2022-07-05 06:18:58 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/vrr9t1/is_there_an_estimate_on_how_much_interest_the/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/vrr9t1/is\_there\_an\_estimate\_on\_how\_much\_interest\_the/

This isn't as much about gme as it is about the money paid to ken griffin on delaying the inevitable. We know that banks park money into reverse repo because of liquidity and they get paid in return..we know it is 2 trillion right now.. Also.. We are looking at interest hikes which should mean reverse repo should be paying more with rate hikes right?

So...banks are getting money daily and overtime since 2021 and i remember something about financial institutions getting millions a day in interest..but what about now? And the total of the interest? Isn't think just cancelling out the qt the feds claim they are doing and continuing their money printing machine