My resolutions for 2021 were to get into investing and motion design. I invested in GME back in March (thanks to you lovely lot) and spent a load of money on motion design courses over the last 6 months but, I haven't had the opportunity to really get the ball rolling with personal projects because of work/family. Anyway, recently started a new job with better hours and moving to a new city with fewer distractions. So I'll finally have the time to start making NFTs when, BAM, GameStop NFT market place is kicking off. No excuses now, the stars have aligned, the moon is next.
