Just got a bonus from work. I figure I have two choices: 1) pay off my wife's car loan and use what's left to buy 20 or so more shares of GME, or 2) punt on the loan and buy another 100 shares and lock them away in the purple donut heaven of Fort Knox, aka Computershare. One of these two options seems completely irresponsible to me.... because only one of those options locks the float faster.
