Is the stock market really about to start crashing? The stock market nearly crashed last Thursday, and it crashed again today. The Nasdaq fell as much as 3.8% and the GME fell as much as 13%.

So far, the Nasdaq is down more than 3.8%.

Technology stocks plummeted collectively, with tsl, nvda, and amd falling better than 7%.

GME is down more than 13% and is still down more than 10%.

I remember I warned that GME would be sold off by institutional investors on April 1st, when GME was at $164 and today is at $102.

How is the GME in your hands?
