This may have already been addressed but I wasn't able to find in the recent discussions on book vs plan.

I've been buying a few shares bi-weekly with the computershare auto-buy for few months.

Would it be better to (1) keep buying GME directly in computer share using the automatic buy program, or (2) buy from an external broker (fidelity in my case) and DRS into computershare once a month? Or does it not matter either way?
