

Title: I got so excited to see the price plummet this morning.

Author: italkformydog

Created 2022-07-21 17:53:21 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/w4n24x/i_got_so_excited_to_see_the_price_plummet_this/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/w4n24x/i\_got\_so\_excited\_to\_see\_the\_price\_plummet\_this/

Here's the deal. I'm 100% in now. I'm not a risk-taker and if you had told me a year ago I'd be betting everything I had on one stock, I'd probably pass out.

But I know we're right.

And I know RC knows what he's doing.

This morning when I looked at the GME stock price, my eyes widened with glee. The price was plummeting. But we're not selling. NONE of us are selling. Not today of all days. Not a chance.

If you're like me, you've thought eagerly about today every day--every couple of hours even--since they announced the stock split/dividend possibility months ago.

We've locked almost 50% of the float. We're eagerly awaiting our dividends. Not a single one of us would even consider selling right now. And the price is going... down? There's absolutely no reason for it to go down. Unless they're scared of us.

Seeing the price plummet on this day--possibly the most anticipated day of all--oh, it's beautiful. They can't leave us alone and they're fighting back with everything they have knowing they're one day closer to burning up in our fiery liftoff.