Dan Runkevicius posted an article to Forbes stating this proposal went up for comment Jan 26 but I cannot in all my searching find it in the Federal Register. The link in his page is a useless SEC Fact Sheet .pdf but the original Bloomberg article is where I found the entirety of it posted. Notice how the end has INSERT FILING DATE HERE. Has anyone looked into this? Seems like dark pools are coming under the same regulations as lit exchanges if I'm not mistaken. GME is an NMS so it falls under the category of reported transactions. Not gonna lie we're only seeing this because of the T-bill shorting in my opinion so thank u/atobitt for carving a path in the wilderness for us/DOJ/FBI ■

BONUS POINTS: If anyone can go back and look at the exact OI of when the OG $60m Put bet was made that would be fun to see if it happened after the rule was announced January 26 this year.
