I am thinking of DRSing my GME and Amy (I own both, if you don't like the other that's fine but don't harass me in my private messages, it's weird).

The reason I was not sure about DRS is because Charlie's Market Vids said it's a bad idea and that the money gets mailed to you in an envelope.

My concern is computer share could lie saying your money was lost in the mail when they never sent it.

He did not say if it is sent in a check or in bills through the envelope.

I don't like Charlie anymore because I see through his BS. He said M0A$$ is not going to happen but he said game will $queeze after 2023.

Charlie is also arrogant.

I believe Charlie was spreading FUD and I believed it.

Please tell me the pros and cons of DRS with computer share.

I know what I was told is FUD now, I will do more DD myself but help a ape out.

Can I really not transfer my tendies from computer share to a checking account?

And is it true the only way to sell is by calling them on the phone?

Because during M0A$$, I know their lines will be very busy.

Also wouldn't I be charged by my carrier for calling computer share because they are based on Australia?

I feel like I was lied to or are these cons real?
