A former analyst at Citadel LLC was ordered to serve more than four years in federal prison for receiving $4.6 million in Covid relief loans for his startup fund, most of which he lost in the market.

Gregory Blotnick, 35, was sentenced on Thursday to 48 months behind bars by a federal judge in New Jersey, and ordered to pay $4.6 million in restitution. He pleaded guilty in October to submitting fraudulent loan applications to 13 lenders under the Paycheck Protection Program of the March 2020 stimulus bill.
