Since the FED bailed the banks again on 2019 without anyone even knowing is when you realize that they knew the economy was gonna be fucked for a number of reasons (BRRRS from the FED, housing bubble, stock bubble, shorts getting squeezed, c0 vid, possible wars, supply chain issues, etc) the Billionaire Club said fuck it we are gonna give all our billionaire friends a bunch of free money to fuck over retail and regular people at a leverage of 200:1 with monopoly money we just printed.

Then when they've squeezed everything out of you, like some guy name Larry behind the Wendy's for some fries and a coke... allegedly, they were gonna enjoy the feast while our economy would face a depression never seen before hyperinflation, shortage of foods, chips, etc.

They were gonna leave us to die while living luxuriously but having made a quadrillion dollars and owning every house in the US, as well as the entire market for a 95%+ discount. They were now gonna own us completely

But one thing failed them, they were never expecting retards to look behind the curtain, to analyze and watch every move, uncover the true function of the market, but more importantly the true function of the system, a system that is controlled by the highest bidder where nothing is real and it's just made to keep the rich richer and the poors poorer by any means necessary.

We are the change, we have to let people outside know how the system actually works, because no matter how retarded you are you can understand when someone is fucking you over, a side from GME, the blatant corruption is so clear to the eyes and can't be simply excused with Party X did it. People just don't look that way because the media tells them to look the other way while they rob them. We caught these fuckers with their pants down.

we are the system now gentleman
