On GME. I have been watching the meme stock saga for a year and a half now, and for a year and a half I have tolerated the blatant crime. At first, I was thankful, it showed me just how the inner workings of the stock market truly work, and how there is no true level playing field.

After 3/29/2022 however, I simply cannot keep my mouth shut anymore. I took screenshots and evidence of the blatant manipulation coming from halts. Imagine what the world would be like if everyone just turned something off when they don't like the outcome.

Favorite team losing? Doesn't matter, just halt the game and start it over. Germany losing WW2? Let's just start over. It is easy to see how problematic this ideology is.

The SEC really needs to stop being a worthless watchdog for its corporate masters. There is a reckoning coming. A profound change in the people. They simply will no longer tolerate rigged markets and systems designed to syphon from them. If the SEC wants to survive moving forward, they need to be on the right side of history, a side I remind them, they are supposed to always be on. If you want to survive, you need to DO YOUR JOB.

You and these brokers are messing with the livelihood of American people, both with their predatory, manipulative shorting, as well as their reckless, wanton use of low interest federal reserve money that was meant to help everyday people through a pandemic, not help billionaires make more money. Not only is this repulsively immoral, it threatens democracy itself.

The fact that Gary Gensler or anyone at the SEC even tries to justify what is happening is very telling. Well I am here to inform you that the people will not take it any longer. They will not stand for the injustice and corruption a moment longer. You should be ashamed of yourself that you let it get this far in the first place.

Those who are sick of being exploited by a rigged system grow every day. I suggest your outfit find themselves among our ranks, because the world will change, and we will have justice. If your people cannot help with that, then justice must be given out to the SEC as well, who have become nothing but lap dogs selling security theater to investors.

The house of cards is falling. The only way you can avoid being buried by it now, is to help bring it down.
