Good evening everyone,

Within the last few days we were experiencing a real shitshow around "the market", msm, the crypt0market and other things. Between all the buzz and noise I had a brief moment of silence and a strange thought came to my mind.

What if all these different things and stories are actually hinged together? And why is it that whenever it smells fishy, citadel is right around the corner? With a half rotten fish next to them?

A brief summary of the events:

Well the markets are taking serious hits. Nothing unexpected for the apes, hell, it was predicted over a year ago. Inflation is going crazy, also no surprise here. The scapegoat is also found (bit surprised it's not Chinese market or so, but Putin) because a war started in 2022 is the reason for that inflation starting mid of 2021.... Not. And msm sending out headlines that the meme stock rally is over, again, this time for sure... right before a green dildo hits the market. But that crypt0 bloodbath was unexpected. And suddenly citadel comes up? How does this fit in the picture?

For me, this is too much going on at the same time... which brings me to my initial thought.

Tinfoil time!

We're talking about the endgame for over a year now. And I think we made it this time, we're in it. Ken Griffin said he will fight everyday to survive one more day. His portfolio is taking such a huge bump ytd, apes might already have gotten a call from the bank because of their bad investment choices... and his infinite short position is also expensive to maintain. So if you're fighting on one front and can't gain a single foot but actually are slowly bleeding out... What do you do because you can't afford to loose? You start a second front no one expects!

GameStop heavily invests in blockchain technology. But 99% of the people around the world don't know anything about this except there's something called b*coin. So you select an easy target, wipe it out and print the news. You try to discredit the whole technology hoping people won't find the differences, don't know the terminology. This seems like a true Hail Mary to me....

Final thoughts:

We're close. I have that feeling in my stomach (and I'm sure it's not that burrito I had today) that all these events are tied together. They threw a Hail Mary out of desperation. RC has a plan. He has time. He is dedicated to the projects but his silence speaks words. Moving the marketplace a bit more to the future doesn't cost him anything. But it costed the hedgies third down. If not even the fourth.

Enough of my weird thoughts.

I love you apes, stay hydrated

TLDR: hedgies running out of time and money.
