Hello Fellow Apes- This is how I invested $126,000 In Gamestop $GME Around August 5th 2020 for around $4.50 because of the most simple DD but failed to trust my gut, a really interesting story.

Note: I sold very early because melvin Capital also shorted a few of my other stocks CD Projekt and I felt I need to move on because It at one time was a rigged game, my biggest financial mistake of all time.

In late Summer of 2020 during the chaos, I decided to get back into gaming on PC as I was at my desk at home for 18 hrs a day trading the market, Researching etc.

I wanted to get some items for this, stream deck, some games etc.

See captions below for the rest of my story.

The day I realized Gamestop was Epic.

Before I even looked at the short % I was long.

Basic technicals & I noticed that 96% of the float was short.

After a few weeks I knew this was going to be massive and I had 28,000 shares under 5 dollar average.

I was long $GME and waiting for the "massive squeeze", I had done well swinging other things particularly $MRCB that I almost wrecked myself because of its short squeeze ironically.

I shorted $MCRB a week later in august at 4 dollars on a FDA approval gone wrong and in less than a few minutes it ran to $20+ at one point almost 700% that day. I covered fast trying to make up my loss going long, It worked out but could have cost me 7+ figures if it didn't.

I rarely short and this was my first lesson to hang up my short shorts for good.

I started focusing my attention back to Gamestop $GME because I believed this squeeze could be even bigger than $MCRB 700%+ run in a day.

I continued to hold and was bullish, I did add more shares to swing trade trying to feel how the stock traded but I started to doubt myself.

I listened to the market and started to sell as Melvin capital started shorting another one of my positions CD Projekts -Witcher / Cyberpunk 2077.

I really wish I had stuck with my plan and held into the mother of all squeezes with those 4 dollar shares. I don't know if I would have held past $300, looking back I really wonder if it had not been for me also investing in CD projekts if I would have held. Dang cyberpunk 2077, they should have just made a Witcher 4.....

Ironically I think I could somehow blame cyberpunk 2077 for me investing in gamestop and also the same reason I sold it.

I am thankful it was a lesson learned.

Thanks for listening to my story, I hope it encourages people to put in the work on research and trust your gut Apes.
