For fucks sake. I know this is nothing new, but so blatant and not a peep?

I think most people see the GME split/dividend as a positive, yet here we are with 11 million in volume and a drop of $40-ish (so far) from $190 to under $160.

I haven't looked, but I would guess the buy/sell ratio is heavy on the buy side, but those are sent to the dark pools. I seriously doubt many people are selling knowing that there's a split coming.
