Because the current discussion is a FUD campaign and we don't want a forum slide, or to contribute to someone profiting off the community, through any avenue.

And there are several other subs to talk about that (as you pointed out) including the original one dedicated to discussing options.

Edit: there have been bots actively dispatched in this community today to spam pro-options sentiment. The forum-sliding patterns are plain as day when you're modding.

Not to mention it starts BS infighting in the comments.
