We closed today at $122.48. The last time GME closed at $122 was on March 24, 2021. Following this was a run that brought GME back to highs of $344 on June 8, 2021. The hedgies are continuing to liquidate their long positions as the market continues to blow up. This only means more money to be used to cover their short positions with Janniversary coming up. The reason why GME jumped to $175 last week was because Kenny Boy's finger accidentally slipped and smacked the cover button. They quickly tried to hide this by posting NFT articles to justify the price jump and quickly went back to short-selling GME. The time is near and I will you see all in the stratosphere soon.

TLDR: Buy. Hold. DRS. Stratosphere Soon.
