Anyone who follows the stock also likely follows the stonk sub and has seen the massive influx posts about BBBY. What I find interesting, is that there has not been a single post here that I've seen (and I do read here daily as well). I don't know if this is because the mods here are better, the community is better, or shills have just overlooked this sub, but to me it is an indication that stonk has been infiltrated by a malicious entity.

I guess this post is to just say thank you to the mods here for not allowing this kind of forum sliding, and to the GME community for being awesome. Stay vigilant and DRS is the way!
