Is Goldman creating a bitcoin blockchain market to compete with GME? I had not heard of this on any boards when I ran into a old friend. Seems they have a close relative that is working night and day with a large team to do just that.

She was really proud that her relative was making over a million and working night and day on the very high priority project. Any Apes with a few wrinkles that can flesh this out?

It does tie into the shorting of the crypto market so they could buy in low to fund the project with low cost crypto. Actually, fits them perfectly.
