

Title: PC Gamers Know how big Newegg is, but could this be a way for GameStop to swoop in on this PC market giant by delighting its customers?

Author: ScreamingSoda94

Created 2022-02-14 14:01:59 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/ssbcak/pc_gamers_know_how_big_newegg_is_but_could_this/

Url:

https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/ssbcak/pc_gamers_know_how_big_newegg_is_but_could_this/

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=CL-eB_Bv5Ik&t=192s

So for those that don't know, Newegg is probably the most well known online retailer in the PC building community, and recently has had some major customer service mishaps. These mishaps happened to be with some very large online personalities, which has taken a massive toll on Neweggs reputation.

It is clear that Newegg clearly only cares about taking your money, in it's practices has pissed off a lot of the PC community, luckily.... I know of a business that is also stepping into the PC world and has a drive to delight its customers!

I will say, GameStop has a long way to go before it gets to the level and inventory of what Newegg offers, but the timing for this is PERFECT for GameStop. One of their biggest competitors in this market has blundered, and it's in the exact way GameStop can thrive off of with their business model and goals. I for one will be telling all of my PC friends about a little "brick and mortar" store where they can some of the parts they need, and not be scammed but delighted!

<https://twitter.com/GamersNexus/status/1493057387791540224>

Gamers Nexus are actually flying to Cali to interview them, without them being a part of that decision and tweeting about it so they can't put a "PR spin out". AKA They are PISSED