I feel like I've gotten to experience some pretty amazing things during my time here, and am forever grateful for having that opportunity...but the events of today added yet another layer of excitement as a GME shareholder.

The entertainment value alone...with the constant flow of hype, god-tier research, education, memes/shitposts, and MSM/FUD-busting from the GME communities...has returned far beyond my investment already, and I get to realize those gains daily. So if that effectively reduces my cost basis to $0, the future value of holding these shares is immeasurable.

Looking forward to tomorrow. ■
