I was really hoping my last post on bearish total return swaps would be my only - But, out of the shadows I return, and with good reason. Some of you know my background, please feel free to check my post from August but I work at one of the larger banks on WS in sales and trading. I really hope this will actually be my last post so that I can disappear into the shadows (preferably to my 50th story penthouse when this is over) for good.

I've been noticing that many DRS posts lose steam and failing to remain in the top posts or most upvoted posts only to be eclipsed by posts about Ken lying, fuckery, the SEC's masturbation problem amongst many other things – AND THIS COULD BE THE BIGGEST MISTAKE WE MAKE.

As a community over 500k to 1million between the subs and possibly the same if not, a great number of lurkers not even subscribed or that have Reddit, we finally unlocked the key to the MOASS that is Direct Registration and it was right there in front of us all along.

This post won't have any memes or any one-liners' to keep you all entertained, this is all business, and really do hope you read the whole thing.

I've spent the last week asking many equity traders/salespeople downstairs about what the impacts of DRS will have when we lock the "free float" in Computershare and in summary, there are two words: END GAME. I know we have heard this so many times now, but we finally pushed the ace that has been up our own sleeves this whole time to the forefront. Every single person that I have consulted at work that trades equities has said along the lines of the same exact thing. When (not if) the entire free float (roughly 30-35 million when you remove institutions and insiders) is locked in Computershare. An alarm bell will be raised to GameStop Execs who will finally have it in their power to drop the fucking hammer. No matter what cheap talk the SEC or MSM says, this presents irrefutable proof that everything that had been claimed all along was true and gives GME the kill switch to enable a share recall for all GME shares that are outside of CS. (THIS MEANS MARKET MAKERS WILL BE FORCED TO LIQUIDATE ANY AND ALL SHORT POSITIONS) This is not speculation, it is written in stone. If GME pulls the kill switch, high-frequency trading will kick in attempting to unwind this nightmare thus triggering the End Game.

I'm tired of seeing posts saying, "only DRS 20%", "only whatever you feel comfortable" – FUCK THAT and FUCK THOSE PEOPLE. This entire community has the SHF's and Market Makers on their knees, with the kill shot only inches away. Letting up now by buying into that nonsense would only hinder our progress. If you know you have them on the ropes, only transferring a small portion of your shares does nothing but slow us down and weaken the message we are about to send.

This is the bottom of the 9th, and the bases are fucking loaded. Don't fuck this up. DRS should be used to move 80%+ of your shares if not all of them. It is the only solution to accelerate what we have all waited months for. This is the final push, and we have nuclear launch codes sitting in our hands. Enough is enough. BUY HODL & DRS.

It's also important that we know where we stand. There is no need to post account numbers or blur out info. By using simple photoshop, you can post what factor in the thousands we are up to in account numbers so we can really track our DRS progress. If you are going to buy more, and are ok with waiting a week, then do so in CS; if not, then purchase in fidelity or another reliable broker that day and initiate a transfer when the shares settle.

Acceleration is key, the faster we lock the float, the less time they have on their side to attempt to weasel their way out of the impending shitstorm. We all know Kenny lied, we all know the SEC is complicit, we all know the system is rigged, but now more than ever, none of that matters... WE NEED TO DELIVER THE KILLSHOT.

I forgot who said it, but if retail wanted to end this, they could have done it a long time ago by doing the hard thing that no one ever does and just asking for their shares. D.R.S.

We need to track where we are in account numbers at computer share (without disclosing personal info and full account numbers of course), We need to ensure that everyone has no fear in making the leap. We need to help each other understand the steps to transfer and why every single X or XX account matters. It's time to finish the fight (halo voice). This is the fucking spirit bomb right now and Ken Griffin and the rest of these fucks that have been plaguing our free markets for decades now are on the receiving end of it.

Enough of the 20% narrative that is being pushed, enough of those thoughts in your head that "if everyone else does it then I don't need to". FUCK THAT. Every single one of those shares counts.

\-Also, do not worry about a 1 million limit in CS, we have seen time after time that companies change their limits and tech as situations unfold. You can be almost certain that when the time comes CS will adapt and allow us to transact in the millions.

TL:DR-A Free Float lockup in Computershare WILL trigger the MOASS

-We need to be promoting DRS above all else as it is the ace up our sleeve***

\-We need a way of tracking the number of accounts that have been signed up each day (new account numbers are linear)

\-Computershare is the safest place to hold your shares and will be an easy interface when it does come time to sell, or not, bc what the fuck is an exit plan?

Don't let up, don't take the pressure off, don't let them get off easy like they did in 08'... lets end this, once and for all.

BUY HODL & DRS.

But what do I know, I'm retarded - I'll see you all on the other side.

not financial advice by any means
