

Title: nickel spot issue and GME

Author: ghettospread

Created 2022-03-09 11:30:32 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/ta5txz/nickel_spot_issue_and_gme/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/ta5txz/nickel_spot_issue_and_gme/

<https://www.ft.com/content/0269cdda-ef67-43c8-b820-a919c919b5fa>

So the LME has halted trading on nickel spot (elsewhere I read this could go on until this Friday 11th March, though is speculative - search "nickel 11th march" on google to see what you think).

This will be such a test case for what happens with GME + squeezing?

Or is it not relatable enough for some other reason I'm too smooth brained to think of?

Will this continue despite halting? My understanding is halting will merely just give the market an opportunity to regroup and strategise?

I'm surprised this hasn't been more discussed on the various GME subreddits??? Seems like something worth watching compared to other gamma/short squeezes that have gone on in recent times...

Thoughts???