First off I apologise if this comes off as FUD as that isn't my goal here, I just need some help in research/DD. I want to add that I'm currently an XX holder and have been holding for many months now.

So in the past and currently to this day GME has become not only a hope for a better life but kind of an obsession as every day I'm looking at new DD and trying my best to find research myself on our beloved Stonk BUT recently I've been trying to figure a few things out and I've found DD on it in the past but wondering if there's any new developments on it.

So as we know GME is being shorted and is the most shorted stock in history and continues to be which means at some point GME will explode especially with everything that's going on ie the split and DRS float filling more and more everyday. We compare GME a lot with VW that happened back in 2008, it went from $210 to around $1000 which back then was massive and from what I've seen it cost short sellers $30 billion. What concerns me is the market cap... VW market cap I believe went past it's current market cap back in 2008 by around 30 billion and so for us to reach our phone numbers wouldn't that mean GMEs market cap would have to hit trillions ?

I'm just wondering will the market cap restrict the price from shooting up or will we be okay? Thank you for your time and I hope this doesn't come off as FUD.
