

Title: so I'm re-reading one of my favourite DDs (A Castle of Glass - Game On, Anon) and I am suddenly reminded of this comment. 11 months since it's creation, I'm bullish to say he might be on to something here but what if RC isn't just mastering the virtual reality, but overhauling this one as well?

Buckle up

I think the theory is that u/leavemeanon was MJB himself.

Here's the comment I made when that DD was reposted a few weeks ago, and I still think this:

RC is creating a whole new virtual world, much like the OASIS in the book Ready Player One. An online world as rich as the current tangible world we live in. He's going to kill Facebook and Twitter and Amazon as well as the current banking and financial system and create a place where our money, social presence and entertainment -- our whole lives -- exist online. Even a large portion of our jobs. And we'll get to it through the network he creates, using Blockchain GameStop coins, and spend most of our time in this virtual space, going to meetings and consuming entertainment through GameStop. We'll buy virtual goods to enhance our online homes or clothes for our avatar. We'll buy our real-world network equipment and comfy gaming chairs and headsets and controllers and everything else from GameStop.

He may even kill global politics, getting rid of geopolitical borders because nobody will care anymore, especially when we all use the same money and create our own space online.

He's definitely going to kill the current American political system, because the big money is about to get cut out and we are tired of our bought-and-paid-for politicians who just make everything worse. Generation Pissed Off is about to take over and change everything.

This really is a movement, not just a company, and we really are watching some 420-D chess action unfolding before our eyes.

"Buckle up" is an understatement. I'm ready and my tits are JACKED. July 14 cannot come fast enough!

You are one smart damn ape. I think I'll be sticky-ing this comment. Truly proud of this deduction. You've described my thoughts about the level of change he's going for, better than I did by the end! Well done 🚀💎🟡👤
