

Title: A billion dollars was Direct Registered back at the end of October. I can't get over how insane that number is. A BILLION dollars. Individuals in GME put up a BILLION dollar middle finger to Wall Street. That was just round one. That was without any real public support or attention. Yet. It's coming

No major drop from GME. GameStop is totally free to work in the shadows. With complete trust from their shareholders. With every media and news channel and mainstream social media content, ALL pushing away from GameStop. A billion dollar flag was just planted in the ground.

Imagine once NFT marketplace starts dropping. Once people start understanding. Imagine what could happen once GameStop releases it's plans to the wider public. A BILLION through sheer force of will, and likely even more DRSeD since. With more on the way.

I can't imagine having my money anywhere else. Not a bank (Rip Evergrande), not any crypto (Rip Evergrande), not any stock (Rip Leverage.) I can't imagine the insanity once NFT marketplace launches and we all have more ways to interact with the greatest company in the world and it's products. The rest of the world WILL see what we see. It's just all so Bullish. I really like the stock.
