I would like to point out these tweets by Burry proceeding the thermostat tweet

Tweet 1: Riddle about part of Crypt0 BEE TEE CEE and a head and shoulder ad tweet 1

Suggesting the beginning of a head and shoulders pattern

Tweet 2: Talking about bailout and how he doesn't support them

He will get back to that topic shortly

Tweet 3: Posts a story about Kenny intentionally damaging a boat so as to get rescued(bailed out)

Tweet 4: Only 43 minutes later Posts about how there is no such thing as untraceable bitc0in

Tweet 5: Posts about inflation

Tweet 7: Post about a literal bull trap

In investment lingo A bull trap

Tweet 8: Proving he was correct about the bull trap

My theory is he saw a bull trap in the Bee Tee Cee coin. Attributes it to KG intentionally going overboard with the shorting because he knows it is "too big to fail". Signals that Point 72 is somehow related. And that the huge drop in the Bee Tee Cee price is related to a rug pull. Possibly orchestrated by Point 72 and KG. I also find it interesting that he point to an article about how BTC is possibly traceable meaning we could theoretically prove that it was them..idk what do you think?

Edit: Added links. Thanks for the input everyone.
