Ok i know about the gamestop craze and short squeeze stuff.

But i have no idea what this or DRS is! They make big claims on the website that this will finally expose and force a financial system overhaul.

Can someone explain please!

ComputerShared

if you use a broker, you don't actually own your shares!

your shares are being lent out to hedge funds who short your stock and makes money off your shares!

imagine paying money to buy something that you don't actually own. that's the sick reality of the stock market.

BUT!

when you buy shares through a transfer agent like Computershare, you are the true registered owner of that share, just like in the good old days of share certificates before computers took over that job.

your money and shares belongs to you!

so what apes on Superstonk have been doing is to take every single share of GME off the streets and into their own hands, leaving NOTHING for the hedge funds who are short on GME to borrow and steal from.

what happens after that? we'll find out in the next episode of "who's the next hedge fund to go bust"
