Second day in row after motherfu*king splividend and price is dropping 5% with volume for smaller creatures than ants. I'm not selling, you're not selling and we all know that. I'm mad. Keep dropping the price and giving us discounts, I assure you I will take advantage of those. But I'm mad. I'm mad that this system so blatantly favors the 1%. I'm mad that no one seems to do anything even though the fuckery surrounding GME and bunch other tickers is clear as day. Land of the free and home of the brave in my ass.

I hope that after this mess is over and we have cleared the filth from financial system, we can build actually transparent and fair market system for all things.

I hope that this saga will show whole world how they have been fed lies and deception for so long. And that we can do something against "The Big Brother" that seems to control our lives in unfair ways. I hope that we know better in future. I hope that I don't have to be this mad ever again.

'Tis is what I hope, peace.
