Hey all,

I am drsd about 800 shares and have posted for the count. I am fully committed to drs and hodling but was curious about when it comes time to sell.

Are you guys intending to transfer out to your brokers to sell or to sell directly from computershare?

I think there's a fee for transferring and selling whole shares - $.12 per full share sold or transferred.. meaning 4x the fee after the splividend. I want to know if I'm thinking about this correctly and if there's a way to avoid the fee for transferring out or selling when the time comes when shares are in the millions.

Please don't say things like... with millions you won't care about a $.12 fee per share, yes you're right but just wanting to understand if the fee is avoidable.
