I had a recurring buy that takes place every month on the first and fifteenth for GME. I recently set up a limit sale that is good for 30 days for $211k to verify that I was able to set up a limit sale that high. Now, my auto enrollment in my recurring buy shows I don't have one. Has anyone else experienced this when setting a limit sale or can someone point me in the right direction that shows computer share stops your auto enrollment purchases if you set up a limit sale?
