After I DRS'd my GME last week I was surprised to find I already had an account in CS with 50 shares of State Auto stock. My grandpa bought these for me back in the 90s and I thought my dad sold the lot for me before college so I could have some money. Apparently it wasn't everything though and now I want to put that 2500 into GME. They are certificated shares as well, so not only would I need to locate the certificate, I would need to pay the huge tax on the gain before buying GME.

Any solution you wrinkle brains know about that would allow me to legally avoid this, or is my only choice the obvious one?
