

Title: Please add to with suggestions or critique this rough draft to the SEC. It will also be modified and sent to the DOJ, FBI, House/Senate reps, Secret Service, etc. I think it's time to start asking why there's a lack of enforcement of the laws.

Sure, laugh, ridicule, criticize, as I am sure many of you will, but I think it's time we start pointing out that we see the obvious criminal activity, the collusion, and the lack of enforcement. Call me crazy, but the squeaky wheel and grease thing comes to mind.

Add, rewrite, crush, destroy, whatever, let's make it something to send to them all and let them know we're not leaving without justice.

Dear SEC,

I am wondering why you continually fail to protect investors, when your job is to do so.

It is clear that the so called "meme" stocks are heavily manipulated, yet nothing is ever done. As an investor I find it disturbing, but not surprising, that you continue to protect those who control (manipulate) the system to their advantage. (It is clear that you do not control the system.)

I have a few simple questions that I would like answered. I hope you realize these are serious questions, and that you do in fact work for investors and not Wall Street.

1- Why do you allow dark pools? They are clearly not in the best interest of a free and fair market, yet you allow this activity. Why?

2- High frequency trading allows Wall Street insiders to have an advantage and basically manipulate price and essentially steal money from retail investors. Is this your idea of a free and fair market? Please explain your stance on this activity, as it serves no one but Wall Street insiders.

3- Why is there a rule that says trading can be halted on a security without any reason whatsoever? AND, how is it that you say there is no requirement to even divulge a reason for doing so? What kind of free and fair system operates in this manner?

4- Why don't you enforce the rules already in place regarding synthetics short selling? It's illegal, but you ignore it and allow it. Why?

5- Why do you allow the CLEAR media manipulation of securities, knowing the narrative is set forth by hedge funds, who own the media? This is clear collusion and market manipulation. A perfect example is from March 10, 2021. Market Watch somehow "miraculously" published an article about GameStop crashing, more than 20 minutes prior to it happening. GameStop was trading at approximately $340 and within minutes, was tanked to about $170. Yet, you, the SEC, saw NOTHING ODD about that? Seriously? That didn't set off any alarms for you? You sit idly by and watch the corruption, and apparently approve of it. It's disgusting for any of you to even pretend you are doing the trading public a service and protecting them. It is everything but.

6- Why are your fines so small and weak? You fine a company $50 million but they made $2 billion on their fraud. Do you honestly think they care? Stop insulting us. You want to stop the abuses? Up the fines to include confiscation of ill gotten gains. The problem is, the criminals pay you too much to actually levy meaningful and persuasive enforcement and fines. Frankly, the SEC is useless as an enforcement agency.

Also, could you each disclose your net worth and the sources of your wealth? The public that entrusts you to oversee fair, free and just markets deserves to have some reassurance that the people in charge are not bought and paid for by Wall Street.

While there is much more I could add, suffice it to say that you're all failures at your jobs and should be prosecuted for collusion.
