

Title: GME AND TESLA PARTNERSHIP??? - CONNECTING THE DOTS

Author: disoriented_llama

Created 2021-11-30 01:14:29 UTC

Permalink: /r/TheGloryHodl/comments/r5awbn/gme_and_tesla_partnership_connecting_the_dots/

Url: /r/GME/comments/mbz4pt/gme_and_tesla_partnership_connecting_the_dots/

Linked Post Content:

TLDR DOWN BELOW

As many of you know there has been plenty of DD of Elon Musk and GameStop possibly partnering. I did some digging and found some recent news about Tesla's and GameStop's future plans.

What we know:

- Elon hates shorts and Robinhood. Melvin shorted Tesla
- He loves gaming (more down below)
- Starlink. Gamers hate slow internet speeds and high latency.
- Refreshed Model S gaming capabilities

Some of you don't know but Tesla is planning on releasing a refreshed Model S very soon but it has been delayed due to a gpu chip shortage.

One of the cool features of the new Model S will be its gaming capabilities. The gpu that it uses is the same one that the new PS5 and Xbox X use (AMD)

Previous Tesla games were played via touchscreen or using the steering wheel but with its gaming capabilities Elon will need to provide controllers for most games which Elon hasn't talked about.

Purchasing games on the Tesla:

There was news on the updated software for Tesla coming soon but not the ability to purchase video games but.....

GameStop recently announced exclusive online gaming services and yesterday announced that you could download games on various platforms. Could one of those platforms be Tesla's???

Elon Musk has also been working on Star Link which is a low latency, broadband internet system which will provide very fast internet where ever you are which will benefit gaming in Tesla's and GameStop Esport events.

Elon Musk also mentioned on JRE how he really wants to integrate gaming into Tesla's and I believe with the help of GameStop and Ryan Cohen he could accomplish that.

TLDR:

BUY AND HOLD. Tesla's new refreshed model S has very good gaming capabilities but its release is delayed. GME/TESLA PARTNERSHIP?