Let's Begin with 'The Web of Corruption' - Jeff Bezos, Citadel, BCG

Jeff Bezos worked in the banking industry when he became a product manager at Bankers Trust. He worked there from 1988 to 1990, helping to manage $250 Billion in hedge fund assets. He then joined D. E. Shaw & Co, a newly founded *hedge fund* with a strong emphasis on mathematical modelling in 1990. Jeff Bezos became hedge fund D. E. Shaw's fourth senior vice-president, working there until 1994, when he then focused on his new online bookstore called Amazon that he set up in 1993 during his tenure at the hedge fund.

The Jeff Bezos, Citadel, BCG Web of Corruption

I will assert herein that Jeff Bezos likely envisioned an illicit idea of market dominance while working at the hedge fund. With Amazon being able to sell so many different types of products eventually, the easiest way to kill competition was to put companies that sell things in stores (in-person) out of business to therefore create an economic dependency on Amazon shipments. This is where Amazon's banking/hedge-fund ties came in, as Boston Consulting Group (BCG) was instrumental in infiltrating the boards of companies like Toys R Us, Sears (yes - companies that Americans *liked*).

Citadel Securities comes into the picture because they control a large percentage of retail stock orders (payment for order flow), and can reroute purchases of these 'identified-to-die' \[perhaps as identified by Jeff Bezos directly\] companies into off-exchange markets, AKA Dark Pools. Real buying interest can be internalized and hidden in swaps contracts - thereby leading to shareholder frustration, destroying investor interest. Then, Citadel Securities (as well as other connected hedge funds like Melvin and Point 72) can short-sell these 'identified-to-die' company stocks to death on the market. Add in naked short selling, in droves, and you have yourself the anti-competitive business model that *was* Amazon. This profited Jeff Bezos's friends (hedge funds and bankers) while benefitting Jeff Bezos's Amazon business prospects (via direct elimination of any competition). This was, of course, until the new *GameStop entered the chat (2020-2022)*.

This same company-killing tactic was attempted on GameStop. It can be said therefore that the one company, GameStop - that is actively breaking this cycle - will be the new global e-commerce victor, as it has 'already outdueled' Amazon. Breaking this cycle is already beginning to generate shareholder rewards. Ryan Cohen too has outdueled Jeff Bezos once in the pet-product arena, with Chewy.com. Now Cohen \[and by every measure of his twitter activity\] is 'going in for the kill' by taking down Amazon's model with GameStop, Bed Bath and Beyond, and Chewy using Web 3.0 - *The Way of the Future*.

Asymmetrical Risk of Amazon's Web 2.0 - and a new focus on GameStop's Web 3.0

Jeff Bezos, who stepped down as Amazon's CEO, unfortunately suffers from an eye condition called "Ptosis" (aka Blepharoptosis), a drooping or falling of the upper eyelid, sometimes called 'lazy eye.' This 'asymmetrical' eye, as some have labeled it, has been said to be an early indicator to something more dire: the Asymmetrical Risk of any investment with that company going forward. Jeff Bezos stepped down as the CEO, which symbolically is the first step of the business cycle toward eventual bankruptcy.

Asymmetrical Risk is a situation in which the potential gains and losses on an investment are uneven; in Amazon's case: the potential for loss is much higher than the potential for gain, as the company is losing its top talent to \[you guessed it\] GameStop Corp. Amazon by Market Cap is egregiously overweight, at an outlandish $1.7 Trillion (yes, a number with twelve zeros), making it somehow now worth about *132 times* that of GameStop which is worth only $13 Billion (a number with nine zeros).

Yet, Amazon sports outdated Web 2.0 architecture, and is failing to make the necessary strides into the future of Blockchain and Web 3.0. GameStop is not only taking Amazon's talent directly by leadership hires, but GameStop is attracting top Blockchain talent from all over the world in order to create a near-monopoly on metaverse/NFT market transactions. GameStop is 'a light-year ahead' of Amazon in the future of American business, so one could expect money flows to shift in the direction from Amazon to GameStop over time (and especially as chairman Ryan Cohen buys Bed Bath and Beyond and has already bested the likes of Amazon in the Pet arena with Chewy.com).

We can look at some Web 3.0 aspects of GameStop's business, and how it can apply to future investments that can allow for the building of generational wealth, but first let's look at how Amazon's founder, Jeff Bezos (who used to work for hedge funds) was able to illicitly-dominate business competition.

# SONY - A Potential Long-Lasting Partnership

Sony's Art Director, Raf Grassetti [for God of War and other big titles], is now the primary artist on GameStop's new metaverse [NFT] Marketplace, and is working with the GameStop team on a new project with Sony.

If You're Interested, You Won't Want to miss this: GameStop's Stock Dividend Date of Record to Vote may very well be this Friday, April 8th, 2022

Last year's GameStop shareholder meeting was on June 9th, 2021. The date of record for shareholders to vote at that meeting was April 15th, 2021.

Under the company information -> meeting information tab on computershare.com (<https://computershare.com>) (GameStop Corp's transfer agent) it was just revealed that the shareholder meeting is June 2nd, 2022, which is only a few weeks away.

The SEC has a rule that the date of record for the Stock Dividend can be no earlier than 60 days prior to the meeting. 60 days from today is literally, you guessed it: June 2nd, 2022. *That would mean the Date of Record to own your ■* ***G M E*** shares and be able to vote on the Stock Dividend should be this Friday, April 8th, 2022*.

Investors interested in receiving the Stock Dividend will have to own shares of GameStop Corp prior to the date of record as voted upon.

Hollywood Bonus: Oscar/Grammy Nominated Director (Craig Gillespie) is making a big GameStop Movie

The Disney-affiliated director [of Cruella] is now making the film titled, ***The AntiSocial Network*** (the name is a takeoff from the Mark Zuckerberg Facebook story: "The Social Network").

Oscar and Grammy nominated best-Director, Craig Gillespie, is making the GameStop Stock movie for MGM Based On Ben Mezrich's Book 'The Antisocial Network,' which discusses the ongoing rise in GameStop stock, and how GameStop Corp overcame a false narrative and illegal short-selling to become the most advertised/marked company of 2020-2022.

# TLDR

Amazon is a dying Web 2.0 retailer, and any investment in that company comes with Asymmetric risk, of future losses. Jeff Bezos's first big job was in the banking industry, at Bankers Trust. Jeff Bezos then worked at a major Hedge Fund called D. E. Shaw & Co for about 5 years. During his tenure at work at the Hedge Fund, he founded Amazon. Jeff Bezos is shown to have long-term, illicit ties with Boston Consulting Group (BCG), and Citadel. Further, GameStop is moving towards a potential monopoly of Web 3.0 and the early transactional markets of the metaverse. The beta of this marketplace was presented, in a way that shows the power of a future 3D metaverse. GameStop too has been creating a long-lasting partnership with SONY. And, in good news, GameStop could stand to benefit from similar price expectations to Tesla (18x) and Overstock (52x gain) which had the same style of issuing stock dividends.
