Just like the title reads.

Im mostly a lurker and updooter here but I've noticed more and more posts about interviews and the gme doc movie that came out and folks discouraging people from checking it out for themselves and encouraging others to take their word for it.

If you're on the fence about this all I implore you to watch and analyze for yourself before reading these posts.

I decided years ago that I wouldn't sell until I see them in cells so I admit I haven't seen much goings on in the media outside of a quick scan of whatever I'm consuming. All my energy goes to buying and drsing and anything that helps me do that. Im fairly certain the majority of you are on the same page. Just had to give my 2 cents just in case.

Cheers folks and one love.
