I finally managed to speak with a Computershare Customer Service Representative regarding my attempted Limit Orders for $214,748.36 per share of Gamestop. I was testing the system after reports during the LULD Halt of High Limit Orders of 500k/214k.

My orders were kicked back or cancelled after completing the Order and initiating Order Processing per what they have told me this AM.

They now have a policy/program in place that prevents Limit Orders too far outside of Market Action. I.E. Market Price being $180, you cannot place a Limit Order (Sale) of $225. Their system will automatically cancel the initiated transaction.

Not happy with Computershare to say the least.
