

Title: Public comments are the SEC's way of covering their ass and showing a paper-trail of support for their actions.

Author: FiscallyMindedHobo

Created 2022-02-07 15:59:00 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/smtj9f/public_comments_are_the_secs_way_of_covering/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/smtj9f/public_comments_are_the_secs_way_of_covering/

Given that, would you rather that support be dominated by (a) bad actors paid by organizations with deep pockets that have an interest in the defeat of new rules designed to help prevent fraud, or (b) actual retail traders in support of preventing fraud and abuses?

If your answer is (b), then consider giving the SEC what it needs to do the job that you are asking them to do, thus helping create a fair environment for trades surrounding seemingly abused stocks such as GME.

Edit: typo (considering >> consider)