I use Yahoo Finance for keeping an eye on nearly real-time price.

In the past, I've noticed they get the NASDAQ futures price wrong? I thought "that's odd?"

Why is YF reporting >14,000 in Futures? NASDAQ closed 13,500? A buddy of mine said..."huh, that's weird? CNN Finance shows same bug..."

So, I went to see where the source of this bug is... and well, it's the NASDAQ? According to them, the NASDAQ closed with a 100 point rally in the last 10 minutes... above 14K? Except, that's complete bullshit.

Are we already mooned behind the curtain, and they're just showing us a fake ticker tape of GameStop?
