So a question from a smooth brained ape. Recently received my verification snail mail but turns out that it was expired. Now i am trying to get the express option.

So here is my problem. i called ComputerShare and they told me that you need to pay a fee via credit card, and that you would need to give them the credit card info through the phone, talked to my bank and they said this was strange because normally these types of transactions happen via website not through phone. I don't think computershare would do anything with my credit card info but i just needed to be sure.

How did the rest of you pay for the express option? Did you give your credit card info through the phone too.
