When the float gets locked and all the brokers around the world have millions of "shares" sitting in accounts then you will just be written off as a **victim of fraud****.

You will not likely get anything for your share in a brokerage account like you wouldn't get anything for taking a counterfeit note into the bank. The bank would keep the counterfeit note, tell you tough luck and report it to the relevant authority. The same could be true for any counterfeit shares sat in brokerage accounts once the float and all shares are DRS.

Your name will go on a list of a class action law suit and you'll end up with cents on the dollar.

You will be sat at ground zero while watching everyone else get on the rocket and launch.

Don't sit on the side lines.

Don't lose your investment.

Don't become a victim of fraud.

Do register your shares.
