So I drs my shares and noticed that when trying to sell. Yes I know we don't but I wanted to at least see what the process was. And while doing so saw that when I sell I get a check through my mailbox. So I quickly researched and learned that I need to add my banking account. Well of course and obvious but I somewhat didn't think about it. So I connected my bank account and it said to wait 10 days. So after 10 days when I sell I get money directly into my bank account? And is there like a wait time to see it in my bank or is it like coinbase where I would see my money real fast? Thank you gme or is there like a dd someone already did on this topic?
