Hey everyone sorry if this is simple or obvious I'm just having a hard time navigating the site and help forums.

I decided to invest some into the GME stock and decided to go the compushare route. I got the confirmation for my investment (and it has the purchase date set up) I then registered my account and filled out all my info. I want to make sure I didn't mess this up and that I properly have register the shares I bought with my account, though I can't seem to find how. Do I need to wait for the sale to finalize? Did I mess up buying the stock first? Did I register it when I registered my account and didn't realize it, I feel the only connections here would be my email and ID info but perhaps that's all that was needed?

Thanks in advance for any help and any other recommendations!

Ps: DRS is automatic for compushare correct? I don't need to do anything else since my shares are registered through them correct?

Pss thanks a bunch for the help again
