I believe brokers are just multiplying your shares into four. They are not treating it as a stock dividend. This is why they posted this FUD is to delay and stop GME investors from DRS-ing their shares. Keep DRS your shares. We can't get to the final boss without all the shares DRSED. At the current situation, I can see the total amount drs'ed ratio will still be the same since they're all in CS, but if everyone still have a few shares that are not DRSED after the split, please think about DRSing them. This will only increase the amount DRS and will lead us closer to the end.
