If even 214 million GME shares hit 500k per share, that's 100 trillion $$ roughly. Where is that coming from to pay us when the this all happens?

And none of our money invested is FDIC insured or similarly insured, so the FED isn't required to back up any of the payments owed to us if I understand this correctly?

Can someone help me understand how the money can be paid and where it will come from?

I have xxx shares DRSd but I've been doing some math and in my head just doesn't make sense, please help a smooth brain.
